

Crowdfunding for the Creative Industries

This event is part of a series of webinars called 'Finance for the Creative Industries' on the Howtoblog Platform, which provides tools for the creative industries.

It will focus on an increasingly popular way of getting finance: crowdfunding. The event introduces you to most of the platforms listed on Howtoblog. Alongside the presentations by the various platforms, successful business cases from each platform will share their experiences with this way of obtaining funding for their project.

The programme will be updated regularly, so stay tuned.
