

Spring Hackathon @ Google Campus London

Spring Hackathon 2013

Building apps for local communities

27/28 April 2013

What it's all about

To encourage developers to compete and collaborate to create web and mobile apps to:

- Make local public information more usable and accessible to all in the community
- Enable easy retrieval of information from council websites by non-technical users
- Create better online and mobile links between communities and local public services
